Hunter Systems Group Rolls out NIST-Compliant Hunter SmartShot® to Several Cape Cod Police Departments

The Cutting-Edge, Biometrically-Enabled Hunter SmartShot System Streamlines Mug Shot Capturing For Consistent Photographs.

Scituate, MA. April 20, 2011. Hunter Systems Group, Inc. today announced that it has added five Cape Cod towns as customers of its unique mug shot capturing system, Hunter SmartShot. The product, which has been purchased by 5 Cape Cod municipalities, allows police officers to take perfectly-framed, consistent mug shot photos without ever handling the camera.

“My officers find it to be very intuitive and easy-to-use and navigate,” says Eastham Police Department Chief Edward Kulhawik. “[Hunter Smartshot] has been a great addition to our booking process and department technology.”

This ease of use is important in evidentiary proceedings. In a court of law, slight differences like lighting and positioning may actually cause a witness to choose or discredit a suspect based on subliminal mug shot aspects.

The cooperative nature and added benefits of employing SmartShot throughout a region is certainly an important reason why area police chiefs are expressing increased interest.

“It’s true that this is a beneficial product for a police department to have in its own right, since it serves the valuable purpose of taking consistent mug shot photos,” states president and CEO Mark Thompson. “But when several area towns all use the same system, its effectiveness is increased tenfold. “

Hunter SmartShot is in operation at over 40 municipalities across Massachusetts, as well as all of the State Police barracks. Its latest upgrade even includes the software to take police officer ID photos, as now required for uniform police officer identification cards pursuant to the recently enacted State law. Hunter Systems Group, Inc. continues to enhance its existing products like Hunter SmartShot, while also developing new value-adding law enforcement products. “We are proud to have so many local Cape Cod towns join our distinguished roster of customers,” says Thompson. “We welcome the chance to show surrounding towns this exciting tool, too.”
